Hosted by Howie Movshovitz at the Sie FilmCenter

Join us as we explore the world of classic movies with film critic Howie Movshovitz at the Sie FilmCenter. Tickets are available from the box office one hour prior to screenings. Seating is limited and is available on a first-come, first-served basis. For program information, visit the Sie FilmCenter at 720-381-0813 or www.denverfilm.org. Please note: the Film Series’ start time is 1:00 pm.

Coming attractions:

July 7, 1:00 pm
Grey Gardens
Albert and David Maysles, Ellen Hovde, Muffie Meyer, 1975

One of the greatest and most perplexing observational documentaries. Mother and daughter Big Edie and Little Edie Bouvier Beale live together in a rotting mansion in the Hamptons. They happen to be the aunt and cousin of Jaqueline Kennedy, and their encounter with this group of filmmakers is entrancing, infuriating and a remarkable exercise in humanity. (95 minutes)

August 4, 1:00 pm
Black Sun
Koreyoshi Kurahara, 1964

David Blakeslee describes the film’s “shamelessly uninhibited scenery-gnawing from the actors and the trademark swoops and swirls of Koreyoshi Kurahara’s dive-bombing camera work.” For story, a young jazz-loving Japanese man and a black American G.I. become outlaws and friends. (95 minutes)

September 1, 1:00 pm
The Tin Drum
Volker Schlondorff, 1979

German filmmaker Volker Schlöndorff, novelist Günter Grass and screenwriter Jean-Claude Carrière combined to make this Oscar-winning film about a young boy in Germany who has an accident and stops growing at the age of three. It’s their way of talking about one dimension of what happened to Germany in the ’30s and ’40s. (142 minutes)

October 6, 1:00 pm
Down by Law
Jim Jarmusch, 1986

Three prisoners in a Louisiana jail, all probably innocent, escape. One of them is an Italian who barely speaks English and is played by Italian comic actor Roberto Benigni at his peak. The film shows Jarmusch at his weirdest/funniest. (107 minutes)

October 30—November 10 2019 Denver Film Festival

The Denver Film Festival presents it’s 42nd year with films from around the world. We will not screen a Tattered Cover film this month. Enjoy The Denver Film Festival!

December 1, 1:00 pm
Les Diaboliques
Henri-Georges Clouzot, 1954

Two teachers in a French boys school (Simone Signoret and Véra Clouzot) decide to murder Clouzot’s tyrannical husband, who’s both the school director and Signoret’s lover). But that ain’t the half of it. A deeply perverse—and thoroughly delicious—journey through human malice. (117 minutes)

Thanks to the Criterion Collection.
